OVERALL PLANT SOON READY FOR OPERATION

Machinery Being Installed in Factory and Hoped to Begin Work Next Week. Seventy-five Girls Wanted. Grenadians Are Stockholders in Enterprise.

Unless something unforeseen occurs, Grenada's overall factory should begin operations before the end of next week, according to Roy Kramer, one of the incorporators. Mr. Kramer, together with Max Gerrick, A. Levine and D. Lerner, reached Grenada the first of the week and the work of installing the machines is under full headway at this time. Applications for positions have already been received from 25 girls and 75 more are wanted at once. It is planned to begin operations with from 75 to 100 workers who are to be given instructions in the plant and who will be advanced as rapidly as they learn to become skilled operators and familiar with their duties.

Mr. Gerrick and Mr. Kramer will continue to look after the company's business in Chicago while Messrs. Levine and Lerner will remain in Grenada. Both are men of families.

It will be recalled that some months ago the proposition of securing an overall plant for Grenada was broached when two of the manufacturers came to Grenada accompanied by a member of the Illinois Central development forces. The town was asked to take $25,000 in preferred stock while the manufacturers would take an equal amount of common stock. Committees of business men made a canvass of the town, the required amount of preferred stock was pledged, in the course of time after many conferences and much correspondence a contract was agreed upon and today the plant is an actual fact, being housed in the building, known as the potato plant, on North Main Street, which was remodeled according to plans of the manufacturers.

To J. T. Thomas, president of Grenada Bank, should go most of the credit for securing the enterprise for it was his directing genius and his ability to get things done that accomplished it. But he had the active cooperation and support of numerous business men who gave freely of their time and efforts in laying the proposition before Grenadians and in putting it across.

UNION SERVICES SUNDAY AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday evening the union preaching services will be held at the First Baptist Church with Rev. J. H. Holder, pastor of the Methodist Church, doing the preaching. The First Baptist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist congregations will continue to worship together every Sunday evening through the heated period and the general public is cordially invited to the services.

The schedule for the remaining services is as follows:

July 28th at the Presbyterian church with Rev. W. E. Farr in the pulpit; Aug. 4th, Episcopal church, Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr.; Aug. 11th, Methodist church, Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr.; Aug. 18th, First Baptist church, Rev. J. H. Holder; Aug. 25th, Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Boosey; Sept. 1st, Episcopal church, Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr.

The final union service for the summer will be held Sept. 8th at the First Baptist Church, the preacher to be announced later.

LOCALS BEAT CHARLESTON

Grenada had Charleston at its mercy last Thursday afternoon when the two met on the local diamond. The locals scored almost at will, hitting the offerings of Turner and Chapman to all parts of the field. Three of the visitors' five runs resulted when Brewer and Spruill collided in right field when going after a fly which would have been an easy out. The bases were full and all three scored before the ball could be recovered. Besides Cooper's pitching, Barnett's and Garner's bats were features in the slaughter.

Batteries: Charleston—Turner, Chapman and Burnett; Grenada—Cooper, Maxwell and Bingham. Umpires—Wilkins and Pearson.

DR. BROWN REAPPOINTED COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. T. J. Brown was renamed county health officer for Grenada county at the meeting of the state board of health held a few days ago. He was endorsed by every doctor in the county. Dr. Brown is a very capable man even outside of professional circles and in many respects is peculiarly adapted to the proper discharge of the important duties of health officer. He takes a pride in anything he undertakes and one may rest assured that he does his best to meet every duty that devolves upon him. The Sentinel is glad Dr. Brown was reappointed.

SERGEANT CAMPBELL HERE

Sergeant J. E. Campbell, U. S. Army recruiting service, has been away from this station for the past eight months on duty with the Memphis office, and is glad to be back here at Grenada and to meet his old friends and make new acquaintances.

1929 Crop Outlook Best In Many Years

Prospects for Abundant Yield Augur Well for Prosperity in Fall and Winter. Dairying Adding Its Bit to Make This One of Best Years.

The outlook for a good crop of corn, cotton and hay in this section continues fine. It has been a number of years since the crop prospects were brighter. Nearly every locality reports the appearance of the boll weevil but nowhere thus far has the damage by this pest been alarming, but of course there is yet plenty of time for the weevil to get in its work. There has been too much rain during the past week. If one should be imagining disastrous things, he could foresee what continuous rains for a week or ten days might do for cotton. Unquestionably repeated rains just now would be most damaging. It takes dry weather—not drouths, however—to make sure of a good cotton yield, particularly is this true at this stage of the crop. As so often stated in these columns, the next 30 days will make or unmake a cotton crop.

Old corn is practically made, and it is fine. Late corn looks well and there seems to be almost every assurance that a good yield is assured. The farmer who does not have plenty of hay this year need not blame the weather or anything else, it would seem, except himself. Taken all in all, and coupled with the dairying business and the sale of milk in this section, it looks to The Sentinel as if the farmers are in a better way than for many years.

Crop prospects are good throughout the state. If "luck" is with the farmers in Mississippi in the sale of their cotton and their cotton seed, they may count on more money during the fall and winter of 1929-30 than for many years. Debts should be scaled and something laid by for the lean years.

YOUNG MINISTER PREACHES

Mr. Kenneth Tucker conducted the morning service at the Methodist church last Sunday, the pastor, Rev. J. H. Holder, being absent and engaged in conducting a revival at Blue Mountain. Those who heard Mr. Tucker speak most complimentary of his initial appearance in the pulpit.

Every right thinking man wishes every young man well, and particularly is the public seriously concerned about the young man who undertakes to stand behind the sacred desk and to lead in spiritual matters. One of the greatest needs of the churches today is well equipped, well poised consecrated men in the pulpit, and he that undertakes this high and noble work before first seeking that equipment of mind and soul, does so at his peril and at the risk of finding himself in worse than miry places.

Mr. Tucker's sermon is an earnest that he appreciates these things and that he purposes to qualify himself for the great task before him. The winning of human souls rather than increasing the number of those who are on any church roll is the appointed work of him who goes out to proclaim the glad tidings of sins forgiven and a home in heaven.

COURT MEETS MONDAY

The July term of circuit court will convene at the court house in Grenada Monday morning with Judge John F. Allen, of Kosciusko, presiding. District Attorney David E. Crawley will be on hand to take care of matters for the state and Couny Prosecuting Attorney Sam C. Mims, Jr., will assist him.

The docket is not a heavy one and the court should be able to finish its business by the last of the week.

FOX SEASON OPEN AUG 1.

The fox season will open on the first of August and those who expect to indulge in this sport should renew their hunting licenses now. All licenses expired on the 30th day of June and new ones may be purchased now from the sheriff's office. Don't fail to have your license.

The Weekly Rest

Why one day's rest in seven, and not, say, in ten? Scientists are agreed that the former is exactly what we need. On an average, six days' work reduces our reserves of mental and physical energy to a point where replenishment, by rest, is necessary.

Supervisors Finish Assessment Revising

Work of Equalizing Assessment Rolls One of Most Important and at Same Time Most Distasteful Duties. Taxpayers May Object.

The supervisors of Grenada County concluded their July labors on Friday of last week after a session of nearly two weeks which was devoted almost wholly to the equalization of assessments. This is one of the most important and yet one of the most distasteful matters with which the supervisors have to deal—that of saying what their neighbors and friends should pay into the county treasury. The supervisors do not undertake altogether to say what property should be assessed for, yet in a way they do so, but the main point is, to see that like properties of equal value should pay on equal assessments. In other words, it is the duty of the supervisors to say whether John Doe's residence should be assessed at, say $5,000, while that of his neighbor's on the same street or just across the street which cost just as much as Doe's home is assessed for, maybe $3,000.

In a like manner, the board undertakes to deal with farms, live stock, machinery and all other properties. Of course errors are made. Naturally mistakes are made. With the property of ten thousand citizens to come under review before a board of five men it would be little less than a marvel were not serious inequalities in values made. But the property owner whose assessment is increased as much as $500, by the board is due to be notified, and if the increase is objectionable, it is his right to come before the board at the August meeting and show cause, if any, why his property should not carry the assessment fixed.

Of course there were hundreds of pieces of property whose assessment was not raised by the board. It might be well for property owners to visit the office of the chancery clerk and look over the records to see what assessment their property carries as compared to their neighbor's. August is the time to register a protest. Where an assessment was not increased as much as $500. the law does not require that the property owner be notified. Notice is being published as required by law to the tax payers that the books are now open where any property owner can come and see what his or her assessment has been made. Only personal property was assessed this year.

J. C. Bradford, age abo[illegible] nephew of Dr. R. A. Clanton Grenada, and an employe of [illegible] Crown Service Station, was inj[illegible] Thursday afternoon shortly a[illegible] 4 o'clock when his motorcy[illegible] collided with a small runab[illegible] driven by George Blaylock, e[illegible] ployee of 111 Service Station. T[illegible] accident occurred at the corner [illegible] Margin and College Streets Bradford was going east on Margin and Blaylock was driving north on College.

Bradford was thrown from the motorcycle into the air and fell to the sidewalk. He was rendered unconscious and as The Sentinel goes to press he was just regaining consciousness. He is suffering from a slight concussion of the brain but it is thought he will recover.

Blaylock, if injured at all, was hurt only slightly.

Bradford's brother, Martin, was killed last year in Aberdeen in a collision with a truck while riding the same motorcycle.

Pat's Verbal Darts Accomplish Results

Senator Harrison Delights in Taunting Republican Friends. They Try to Laugh Off His Gaffs and Call Him "Play Boy of Senate".

By Frazer Edwards
Universal News Service

Washington, July 14—Nothing could be at once more ironical nor more appropriate than the title—'Pat, the play boy of the Senate"—which is herewith bestowed upon Byron Patton Harrison, senior senator from old Mississippi.

The bitter irony of calling Pat a "play boy" lies in the fact that he began life with less opportunity for play than 99 per cent of American boys. Yet it is appropriate because the irrepressible Pat early acquired the habit of going about his work with such zest that it all seemed to be play. Even if he wanted to, he couldn't shake the habit now.

Father War Victim

Just a shaver of 7, Pat found himself the "man" of the family. His father, who had followed the bonny blue flag in the legions of Lee, died of wounds and without an estate, leaving a widow and Pat the eldest of four childen. It was up to someone to hustle around and provide bread and butter.

Pat decided that he was "fit" and how he hustled is attested by the fact that he earned as high as $200 a month selling papers in a town the size of Crystal Springs, Miss. But when a fellow of seven has a family of five to support, there is precious little time for playing.

About that time, however, Pat heard the wise old saw:

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

Pat knew he had to work, but he did not want to become a dull boy. So he achieved the remarkable faculty of making play out of work and even found time for real play. It was baseball that he played mostly and by playing baseball he worked his way through Mississippi State University.

Papers Arrive Late

Not long ago, Pat had a reminder of the days when he met all trains at the old depot in Crystal Springs, to get his bundle of Memphis Appeal and Avalanche, and the first edition of the Daily News. He was at that time local agent for both papers. It came tied up in a blue ribbon. Opening the package, Pat found newspapers of more than a quarter of a century ago. The bundles thrown from the train, were rolled under the old station and had not been found until it was torn down after a fire had partially destroyed the structure.

"And that," remarked Pat, with a reminiscent roll of his brown eyes, "accounts for the fact that my papers did not arrive that morning and why I had to bunny all over town anyhow to tell my customers."

Between "slinging hash," teaching in the country schools and pitching semi-pro baseball Pat playfully conned Old Man Blackstone and became a lawyer. All in a spirit of fun, he became county attorney and playfully prosecuted all those indicted with such a degree of success that he was promptly elected to congress at the age of 29.

Pat cavorted through 10 years of membership in the house with such satisfaction that Mississippi regarded him as a worthy successor to Davis, Lamar, Walthall, George and John Sharp Williams, and sent him to the senate. And now he has come into his own. Politics is Pat's plaything; the senate his playhouse. Senators, Republicans and Democrats alike, are the play-fellows of the popular Pat.

Play Boy of Senate

Pat Harrison has been called he "Democratic gadfly," "The light horse cavalry of democracy" and the "Mississippi bearcat." But he is none of these. He is truly the "playboy of the senate." He has a playful and tantalizing method and it achieves greater results than any that could be employed.

By gentle irony, mock sympathy and raillery that points the truth, Pat has the ability of driving the opposition to distraction and in that way piles up some of the best campaign material for the Democratic party. It used to be his chief delight to cause the late Senator Lodge to fly into a frenzy. Now above all else, Pat loves to torment Senator Smoot, of Utah.

Tariff His Opportunity

Ample opportunity will be afforded him in the latter endeavor when the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill comes before the senate. When something like that comes along, Pat is all business. He is all roused over the proposed gouge on sugar and has set himself to the task of saving the housewives of America from extortion. Books already are being made that he will win as usual.

Meanwhile, Pat will work at laying golf. He took up the ancient and honorable sport on the advice of Admiral Cary Grayson, physician to the late President Wilson, when the state atmosphere of the senate seemed about to "get" him.

By working at it for three years, Pat has become the Bobby Jones of the senate. He shoots in the late 70s or the early 80s—scores not to be sneezed at by professionals. But Pat is just a natural-born "playboy."

Amusements Booked For Fair This Fall

D. D. Murphy Shows on Midway, Pramar's Revue in Evenings and Sun Bros. Circus in Afternoons Promise Much Entertainment.

The predominating element of the D. D. Murphy Shows, which will furnish all attractions for the North Mississippi Fair, Oct. 21-26, is novelty. No matter how meritorious an attraction may be the Murphy Shows contract it for two seasons only. Then, as the big caravan swings around its circle of celebrations and fairs, it is always in a position to offer each city visited a midway teeming with novel rides, shows and attractions. This season there are 21 paid shows on the vast midway, together with 14 massive, modern riding devices, a trio of kiddie rides and four laughable fun-houses. Among the big riding devices are two brand new creations, "The Lindy Loop" and "The Cuddle Up". The latter is the first ride of its kind ever constructed and was first presented to the outdoor amusement world by the Murphy Shows while playing Lansing, Michigan, last June. It has proved to be a sensational success.

"Plenty of light" is one of the slogans of The Murphy Shows. The company carries the largest and heaviest portable electric light plant in the outdoor show business. This plant is in charge of a crew of four experienced show electricians. The result is that the midway is always a veritable blaze from one end to the other.

Of the 21 novelty paid shows the Coney Island circus sideshow and museum occupies a prominent position. It is under the management of the veteran sideshow impresario, Col. Tom Scully, and offers an unprecedented array of strange people and human monstrosities. The featured freak is Mary Gordon, English four legged woman, who is said to receive the largest salary ever paid a freak attraction in the history of the outdoor show business in America.

One of the big attractions of the fair having an appeal to men, women and children alike, is that of the Henry Pramar Revue, which has been booked for this year's meet.

Henry Pramar's Revue is a real production in every sense of the word. There is an all star cast of principals surrounded by a bevy of beautiful and youthful girls in the chorus ensemble—everyone of whom it may be said was chosen especially for her technique in singing and dancing.

This revue presents a group of girls in several Tiller dance numbers, as one of its excellent specialties. Included also are a quartet of harmony singers, pantomime comedy by the comedians, yodeling numbers, etc. Then there are two very clever rube comedians who inject quite some comedy, when they rube the grand stand and the fair grounds.

Pramar's chorus is a delight to the eye and a treat to the ear. His girls are the pride of his production, just the same as the feminine ensemble is the pride of a Ziegfield show. They are shapely. They are talented. They are vivacious. What's more, Mr. Pramar dresses his chorus maidens as few other showmen have ever been able to imitate.

In view of the fact that the revue type of of entertainment is that which appeals to theatregoers in all of the larger cities of the nation, it has been selected as the offering which is believed will best please the most discriminating of revue lovers in this section. In each revue given during the fair, there will be clean wholesome comedy, new songs and new dance steps, and above all, the finest cast and chorus booked for any fair attraction in America—all with the Pramar Revue. The revue promises the most colorful entertainment seen here in many a season, and was chosen from among many other features.

In addition to the above amusement attractions, Sun Brothers Circus, one of the best small shows en tour today, will present its galaxy of ring stars and feature acts for the entertainment of visitors to the fair each afternoon.

From the way exhibitors are asking for space, the agricultural, livestock, dairying and other exhibits will equal, if not surpass, any shown here before.

The remains of Mr. Paul Franklin Morse, 32, who died Friday, July 12, in Seguin, Texas, his home, reached Grenada Sunday morning and were interred that afternoon at 2 o'clock in Odd Fellows Cemetery after appropriate funeral services at the First Presbyterian Church conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., assisted by Dr. W. E. Farr, of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Morse suffered an attack of acute appendicitis and was ill only two days. He was employed by one of the large oil companies of the southwest as a geologist and was regarded as an expert in his profession. He was a member of the Presbterian church and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

Four years ago he made Miss Mary Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Hamilton, his bride and she, with their little two-year old daughter, survive, besides other loved ones.

To the sorrowing, The Sentinel extends its deepest sympathy.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB MEETS TODAY NOON

The Young Men's Business Club is scheduled to meet today (Friday) at noon at the Methodist church. More interest than ever before is being manifested by the members and those who are failing to attend the meetings are missing something. A full attendance is urged today.

MEMBERS NEW CLUB MEET NEXT MONDAY

Charter Approved and Officers to Be Elected at Meeting in Court House Monday Evening. Memberships to Advance after Quota Secured.

The members of the Grenada County Outing Club are asked to meet at the court house in Grenada next Monday evening, July 22, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers. The club's charter has been approved and it is being published in this issue of The Sentinel.

The Grenada County Outing Club, as its charter reveals, was organized for the purpose of owning or leasing hunting preserves and lakes for hunting, fishing, bathing, boating, etc. for the use of its members and invited guests and to do such other things necessary in maintaining and operating its property.

The club purposes to own three lakes at first, one on the place of W. R. Baker, six miles northwest of Grenada, one on the place of V. A. Bridgers, twelve miles northwest of Grenada, and the third on the place of J. E. Carpenter, eighteen miles southeast of Grenada. The first lake, on the Baker place, has already been built and it was stocked several years ago with government fish. It is fed by an artesian well which promises an abundance of fresh running water all the time. Work has been started on building the lake on the Carpenter place and it should be completed at an early date. The third lake on the Bridgers place is to be built soon. These two will be fed from natural springs and they are to be abundantly stocked with game fish from government hatcheries. In the course of two years members of the club will have three excellent fishing lakes within a few minutes' drive of Grenada.

It is planned too, by the organizers of the club to extend the privileges of the club to the boy scouts, girl scouts, highlanders and other junior organizations where they may go to spend a few days camping, swimming and living the outdoor life.

The membership quota has just about been completed. Memberships are now selling at $50 but when a few more come in at this figure, memberships will cost $100. It, therefore, behooves those who are interested in the organization which promises to furnish recreation to old and young alike to attend the meeting at the court house Monday night and file their application for membership.

SECRETARY AND CHAIRMAN COMMITTEE TALK AT MEET

At its meeting Tuesday noon, the Grenada Rotary Club heard an interesting talk from C. H. Calhoon, secretary and charter member. He discussed very briefly the history and accomplishments of the local organization, detailing some of its activities, especially in community work and work with the youth of Grenada. Since it received its charter in 1924, the Rotary club has grown from 14 to 42 members, an increase of 200%. Eight of the fourteen original members are still on the club roster. The speaker reviewed what the club had done in the way of various community enterprises and he told of the interest and the labor it had given to the activities of Grenada boys. He pointed out that the good accomplished through the Grenada County Farm Development Association was primarily due to the interest of the Rotary club, where the idea was conceived. When the germ had been planted, he said that the work was turned over to others to make it a community enterprise and he mentioned the good that had resulted for the community and this section.

Roland W. Jones, chairman of the community service committee, following the same line of thought, said that he felt that the visits of the various committees of Grenadians to the rural sections when the survey of farms was made two years ago had resulted in more mutual benefit than any other one thing. He pledged his cooperation to the present administration of the club and he said that it was only through cooperation of the individual members that this year could be pointed to with any degree of pride. He announced the naming of several committees of four each to visit various sections of Grenada trade territory one afternoon this week, the prime purpose of which visit should be a purely friendly call and one where the interest Grenada feels in its farm population and especially those engaged in dairying would be manifested. These committees, when they have functioned, will no doubt be called upon to report what they have accomplished in the way of establishing a more personal and friendly contact with the people they have visited.

Ben Lingenfelter, if Cincinnati, was a guest at the luncheon.

Love or Death

By Rafael Sabatini

The world is reading Sabatini and so may you. We have secured the above story from the pen of this talented Italian-Englishman, probably the most popular writer of the day, and equally at home in writing pure history or pure romance. It is a tale of the time when captains were also troubadors, expressing their hearts in song beneath the windows of dark-eyed beauties; when it was the custom, upon love or adventure bound, to go forth masked; when, two men meeting, it was a question whether plumed hats would be raised or swords would flash and when a gentleman without a dagger was not completely apparelled for social occasions—a jolly old period which Sabatini knows so well how to reanimate.

The Love in Betty's Eyes

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

TO WATCH Preston frisking about the baseball diamond, garbed fantastically in the azure doublet and alpenstock of a Tyrolese mountaineer, one would never deduce the fact that he was revisiting, after a ten-years' absence, the scene of his great defeat. Yet such was the case, and Preston, despite the outward and visible signs of a spirit in accord with the gambols of his class, was experiencing an inward pang at every reminder of a time long past but still very dear.

For Preston's downfall had not been scholastic. On the contrary, he was an honor man and a member of one of those two fraternities composed of prodigies in letters or science. No, Preston had graduated brilliantly. The acid which had eaten into his soul had been contained in the parting words of Elizabeth Rogers, the daughter of his favorite professor, whom he had masterfully appropriated, as far as parental authority would permit, from the evening of the president's reception to the freshmen to the final midnight frolic of his senior class day.

"No, Preston," she had said with a firm shake of her head. "You have it in you to be everything that I could desire, but I do not think you have yet realized your opportunities. I have tried to show you time and time again that I did not care for you as I should, but the very fact you would not understand is an illustration of what I mean. You can't successfully conceive of things going any way but your way. You won't be successful until you have learned to stand up under defeat."

Preston had been cruelly hurt at first, then blindly angry. Immediately after commencement he had departed with his diploma, highest recommendations from his professors and the memory of the first criticism he had ever received rankling in his heart. And accompanying all was a determination to make his name so well known that it would perforce be brought to her attention.

And it was when he came to realize for the first time that all his life he would occupy mediocre positions commanding moderate salaries that he bowed to the truth in Elizabeth Roger's words.

Of these things Preston was thinking as he marched in traditional fashion before the bleachers. He was thinking also of the last game he had watched played on the field. By his side had sat Elizabeth, her eyes glorious above his roses.

At the thought Preston turned to the puffing Tyrolean at his side. "What became of Professor Rogers' daughter, I wonder?" he asked, striving to make the question carefully casual.

His companion returned glibly, "Why, sure, she married Sprackling, class ahead. We passed her a minute or so ago, back in Prexy's stand."

Preston would not have believed that after ten years he could feel so bitingly disappointed. On the next round, he searched for her. Yes, there was Professor Rogers, a bit thinner and grayer, and by his side a strikingly gowned woman, betraying a matronly plumpness, but beneath whose drooping hat Preston fancied, even at that distance away, he could detect a likeness to the gay little Elizabeth of years ago.

Class night—and the campus a veritable fairyland with gleaming and multicolored lanterns festooned among the trees. Soft, seductive strains floating from chapter houses and mingling with the delicate laughter of women and the deeper voices of their companions.

On that greensward beneath the chapter house windows he had danced with Elizabeth. He recalled how light she was in his arms. He had sat beneath that tree and told her he loved her and stopped her protest by placing masterfully her own soft hand against her mouth.

Then he noticed that some one was sitting alone beneath that very tree, and that it was a woman. Unattended women on class night are very rare, and Preston, out of sheer curiosity, walked nearer. As he did so an odd premonition stirred his heart; the figure was so strikingly like, not the woman of the afternoon beside Professor Rogers, but like the Elizabeth of long ago.

At his approach the figure half rose, then sank down again, startled. "Why, Mr. Preston—John Preston!" She held out her hand. "Have you forgotten Betty Rogers?"

"But you're married!" said Preston quite absurdly.

"My sister is married, not I." And Preston realized that he had forgotten that she ever had a sister.

A beautiful night, soft music, two old acquaintances, in a way two old lovers—what more natural than that they should sit together as the hours drifted by and talk of old times and what the years had brought to each?

"If I had made a success of life, I would have come for you, Betty, you must believe that," he whispered. "I can't offer you my failure!"

Elizabeth shook her head, smiling. "If you had come successful, I would never have taken you. As it is—"

"Elizabeth!" Their eyes met and at what he saw smiling there Preston knew for the first time the exhilaration of the wine of success.

Polite

A little girl in the northern section of the city always had been taught to be very courteous. Very often, while playing with her friends, she would go into the house and come out with something to eat in her hand. No matter what time of the day, and knowing full well that it was impolite not to offer some to her little friends, she always said: "Well, I'd give you some of this, but it's my lunch."—Indianapolis News.

Apple Gases Poisonous

The average individual would think that no harm could arise from a cargo of apples; the sailor knows different. The gases they give off are highly dangerous in a confined atmosphere, and apples—harmless apples—spell death to the man who is imprisoned in the hold with them. As a matter of fact, seamen have lost their lives from this apparently innocent cause.

Here are the facts

that prove it America's finest medium-priced automobile

Below are typical examples of facts drawn from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 leading cars in its field. Study these facts—then come to our showroom for additional information. We can give you dozens of other comparisons as further proof of Oakland's unrivaled value. And these are facts which prove the Oakland All-American to be America's finest medium-priced automobile.

What these features mean to you		How Oakland compares with the field
Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.	PISTON DISPLACEMENT	Only one car as low-priced as Oakland surpasses Oakland's piston displacement of 228 cubic inches. Twelve cars in the field have less displacement, and five of the 12 are higher-priced than Oakland.
No name in automobile coach building means so much as Fisher. Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy composite hardwood and steel construction, VV windshield, side cowl ventilation and adjustable drivers' seats.	FISHER BODY	Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.
Reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance. Also permits use of longer, smarter, roomier bodies. At the same time, a small turning circle is essential to handling ease.	WHEELBASE	Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.
For safety, efficiency, convenience, smoothness and silence nothing has been found to compare with internal-expanding mechanical 4-wheel service brakes with non-squeak bands. An entirely separate emergency braking system is needed as an extra safety factor.	BRAKES	Only Oakland and one other car, costing $200 more, use the fine type of brakes described opposite. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and for financing when the G. M. A. C. Time Payment Plan is used.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Dean, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

(©, 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 21

EZEKIEL'S VISION OF HOPE

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 47:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Ezekiel's Message of Hope.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ezekiel's Message of Hope.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Will the Right Family Win?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Cure for the World's Ills.

Ezekiel's final vision, chapters 40 to 48, exhibits a comprehensive view of the restored order when the Messiah shall hold sway over the whole earth. Our lesson for today is but a small part of this vision. It can be understood only in the light of the whole. The following outstanding facts should be noted:

In chapter 11 the Lord is seen taking His departure. In chapter 48 He is seen returning.

5. The land apportioned among the people (47:13; 48:29).
6. The holy city (48:30-35).

In the attempted interpretation of this vision, some five different views are held. The one preferred by the present writer is that it is a prediction of the temple which shall be erected in Messianic times. The literal view prevents wild speculation and at the same time permits the fullest figurative application. In fact, the Holy Spirit gives the interpretation of the waters flowing from the smitten rock (I Cor. 10:4) in such a way as to leave no doubt as to its meaning. The river flowing forth from the sanctuary typifies the river of life, the salvation of Christ flowing forth to the world. Observe:

It flows forth from the house—the restored temple where God has come to dwell. It flows from the divine presence. This flowing of the waters is miraculous. So is the eternal life which proceeds from Calvary's cross. Because Christ is divine, His shed blood has power to give life. It is to be noted that the stream came by way of the altar (v. 1), showing that eternal life for the world proceeds from God by way of the cross. Perhaps the deepest mystery of life is how life can spring out of death. Despite its mystery, the student of the Holy Scriptures and of physical science knows that life out of death is the philosophy of the universe. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone."

II. The Deepening River (vv. 3-5).

The deepening and enlarging is without any tributaries. For the first quarter mile the depth was to the ankles. By the time it had reached one-half mile it was to the knees. Till the distance of three-fourths mile was reached it was to the waist, and at the end of the first mile it was too deep to ford—"waters to swim in." The spiritual truth to be derived from this figure is that the life and salvation which have flowed forth from Calvary made vital by the Holy Spirit, have widened and deepened through the centuries and dispensations. This is especially true of the individual who yields himself to the Holy Spirit.

There is life in the progress of this river. "Everything shall live whither the river cometh" (v. 9). It flows from the altar toward the east country down into the desert and into the Dead sea. "The region of the Dead sea which has been the embodiment of barrenness and desolation, in the coming day is to be changed into a scene of life and fruitfulness."—Gray.

Just as vegetation flourishes near the river, so wherever Christ's salvation is witnessed to in the energy of the Holy Ghost, life comes. This has been true throughout the centuries of church history. The details of fruitfulness are enumerated in verse 12.

2. Everything in the waters shall live (v. 9). Wherever the stream flows, there shall be life.
3. The waters of the Dead sea shall be healed (v. 10). Fishers shall gather from the Dead sea even as from the Mediterranean. The gospel brings life to those in trespasses and sin. The world is dead and therefore in need of the life-giving stream from Calvary.

HOW HAS CHRYSLER DONE IT?

When an unknown motor car sets out—as Chrysler did—to grasp the leadership of a great industry, and with the speed of a meteor, sweeps to a foremost position in popularity and sales, it must possess extraordinary quality and ability.

When the first Chrysler car was placed on exhibition five years ago, the whole industry looked in amazement at what Walter P. Chrysler had accomplished. Within four years, Chrysler had leaped to third place in the industry.

How has Chrysler done it? What is the secret of this success? Simply that Chrysler gave in the beginning—each year since has given increasingly—and today gives in still greater measure—not only a finer grade of basic quality but a higher order of performance, beauty, style, power, acceleration, safety, comfort—all at most reasonable prices.

Such sweeping success must prove inevitably to the buyer of a Chrysler car today that he can count on the most advanced, the soundest, the safest and the most satisfying motor transportation his money can command. Let us prove these facts in a demonstration.

A REAL MAN THE NEED OF THE HOUR.

The Sentinel has an inkling that there are a few men in Jackson seeking to persuade some one to make the race against Ben Lowry, state insurance commissioner, next time and that these same well meaning men, unsophisticated politicians (?), are also striving to drag into the contest the dead carcass of one who thought he was gong to be allowed to run for Governor in the last race.

Ben Lowry will take care of himself is our guess. He has made a faithful public official and under the rules of the game is entitled to a reelection.

This is no time for political eunuchs to be thinking of being made Governor. We need no ponies, cripples or "hipped" animals in the next race for Governor. It does seem that these men, who would not "let George do it" before, would have learned something worth while to them and to the state from the last state election. A real man is the need of the hour for the next election. A real man stands in his own shoes and bends his knees to nobody's fawning.

Those who do not profit by experience and even the most recent lessons of the past, stamp themselves as poor guides to the haven of success.

LEGISLATURE CERTAINLY ONLY PARTIALLY BLAMABLE.

We are at a loss to know what sort of a yard stick the esteemed Jackson Daily News uses when it lays practically all the responsibility for no permanent road legislation during the present administration on the lawmaking body, which means that the lower house must bear the blame, for a majority of the senate has stood ready at any time to pass a road bill satisfactory to the Governor.

The majority of the lower house may not have shown all the spirit of compromise that they should have done. But it is a very difficult task to turn the other cheek when your adversary is punching you with a red hot poker all the time.

There has been much preaching about "getting together", but a majority of the house thinks the actions of those with whom they have been in disagreement show that the house has been expected to come over and get into the other man's back yard.

The Sentinel is not questioning the motives that have animated either side to the road controversy. One thing a majority of the house has contended for all along is the election of the highway commissioners by the people and that no huge bond issue should be carried in any road bill.

The other side has contended that better qualified and more capable men could be secured for highway commissioners by authorizing the Governor to appoint them, and that it was idle to talk of starting road building without a bond issue.

There is merit in what each has contended for, but it must be admitted that the whole trend of the times and the policy of the state backs the view of a majority of the lower house.

There are many things antedating this division of sentiment and which have widened the gulf between the two elements. In the first place the Governor displayed poor judgment in undertaking to defeat Tom Bailey for Speaker. He pressed his school book printing plant to the point where many came to regard it as ridiculous and absurd.

But all men make mistakes. Regardless of what may have already transpired, the state should enter upon a permanent road building program. Thousands of dollars are being wasted in building graveled roads. However, those who do not expect waste and graft when concrete roads are undertaken, are to be commended for their faith. Age and experience have not dissipated the Santa Claus idea with them.

But every possible safeguard to protect the public should be written into any law passed.

At this writing it appears that the special committee of 16 named by the house and the senate to draft a compromise road bill is going to find common ground and that the committee will submit a bill that will pass both houses. Let it be hoped that our faith is not vain.

ARE THEY BEING "LINED UP" FOR BISHOP CANNON?

Much of what we see in the religious press fosters the idea that to a great extent the ministry and the church organizations, especialy of the Methodist church, are being "lined up" behind Bishop James Cannon, Jr., with the view of pulling the Bishop out of the hole into which he has fallen and which he dug for himself.

In our judgment a great mistake will be made by the Methodist church if it goes on record as endorsing Bishop Cannon's bucket shop connections in New York. Oh, it is said, "Never a word would have been heard of the Bishop's flirting with (what we have thought the church taught was stock market gamblers) New York brokers, had it not been for his activities in the cause of prohibition". This is not true as we see it. Speaking for ourselves, we know it is not true.

Unquestionably not nearly so much would have been said of the Bishop's "stepping aside" had he not posed as having one hand on the horns of the altar of prohibition while the most convincing circumstantial evidence shows that the other was in the pockets of the Anti-Saloon League and apparently reaching for what cash might fall into his hands from political sources.

When one smites himself, Pharisee like, on his chest and makes bold to proclaim his virtues and wisdom over and above his fellows, then it is that other men begin to look under the chip.

In our humble and limited way, we, too, have fought in prohibition lines. We are still on that side and shall remain there regardless of Bishop Cannon or any other priest or potentate. When the Bishop turns loose his verbal lightning on the whiskey business and the sorrow and woe it has wrought, he but repeats what has been said over and over for the years and by men and women whose lives have shown the fruits of more consecration to the cause of the Master than his.

We are confident that Bishop Collins Denny views with the most serious concern what Bishop Cannon has done. Bishop Candler, the senior of the college of Bishops of the M. E. Church, South, had an article in the New Orleans Christian Advocate last week which was a most stinging yet dignified rebuke to Bishop Cannon. But these are only two out of the whole number of bishops.

We do not know Bishop Cannon. Never saw him. Those who ought to be able to measure him say he is a man of great ability. No doubt this is true. But some of the world's greatest men have perverted their talents and sown seeds that have brought bitter fruit to mankind.

The church is of God. It was established by Him. It is the Ark of refuge and safety to an erring world. It comes in the hours of sorrow, gloom and distress and soothes the troubled brow and pours the oil of joy on the bewildered soul. The church will ever be all right; its leaders may go astray; they may go after false gods and may undertake to dignify things which will bewilder the trusting soul, yet the pillar of fire by night and the pillar of cloud by day that Moses followed in the wilderness will ever be there for those who stick to the faith.

We would visit no wrath on Bishop Cannon except that condemnation that should always be visited upon leaders when they descend from the lofty pinnacle upon which they were placed by their fellows. We believe in forgiving. We do our best to practice it. With the proper confession on the part of the Bishop, we would say to him, "go and sin no more". Few there be of us that can cast a stone.

In some respects a man set apart for the ministry and who makes pure and undefiled religion his guide, occupies a place in our mind quite akin to that of womanhood. Ministers are expected to live in an atmosphere above the ordinary. They are not expected to become so entangled with the issues and vexing problems of the world that they will not be able to give that comfort and disinterested advice to the members of their flock that all men so frequently need. If we know our own heart and mind we care little about the effect of Bishop Cannon's political activities, but it is the scars which he is making on the church that are giving us concern.

The Methodist church is a powerful organization. In a great measure its course and destiny are determined by the clergy. The laymen are a sort of fifth wheel, nevertheless they are morally obligated to speak out against what they regard as erroneous policies or wrong doing.

Our parents were Methodists, so were our grandparents on both sides. We are a Methodist, hence we feel that we have a right to discuss matters of grave concern to the church and particularly so when these matters touch so intimately the welfare of the general public. We have never yet turned our thinker over to preacher, priest, or potentate regardless of the high place he may by chance be occupying.

We commend to the consideration of the doubtful Thomases among the Methodists the reading of the open letter of Rev. J. H. Felts, presiding elder of the Corinth district, to Bishop Cannon, in N. O. Christian Advocate of June 18. Mr. Felts shoots some arrows into the Bishop's sacerdotal ermine and into his speculating meanderings that go to the very heart of the question involved. Mr. Felts closes this blistering letter with these words:

"But if the time has come when my Bishop is to be an astute business man, with an eye to money-making, and a penchant for the stock market, I for one am ready to do away with the office of bishop despite the number reported as being willing to be sacrificed on that altar".

THE KNOX-INMAN INVESTIGATION.

The report of the committee named by the lower house of the legislature some several months ago is due to be submitted to the house within a few days. The action of the house should be based wholly on what the evidence shows, and we believe it will. The fact that the investigation may have been instigated by Gov. Bilbo should have naught to do with considering the facts in the case. It would be a serious mistake, and the very gravest sort of political blunder, for a majority of the house to render a political verdict. The fact that the minority in the house may roll any damaging facts brought out as a sweet morsel under its tongues, should not, and we believe will not, cause the majority to view the facts through political lenses, or to render any other verdict than that which the proof adduced shows, and which is best for the welfare of the whole state.

WICKERSHAM FUMBLING THE BALL.

From the press extracts of a statement made public only a few days ago by Mr. Wickersham, head of the commission named by President Hoover to study the causes of crime throughout the country, and to recommend changes in criminal law and court procedure, it is evident that the distinguished gentleman is missing the mark. To talk of leaving enforcement of the prohibition law practically to each state would mean no enforcement. The job must be done by the Government with the aid and the cooperation of the states.

Mr. Wickersham is floundering in the same wilderness that Gov. Al Smith did when he urged "local option". Local option is more than a third of a century behind the times. There are but few things in regard to the sale of whiskey that could be worse than "local option".

As heretofore stated in these columns, we believe the surest way to get away from the evils that come of stills and bootlegging, is for the Government to dispense whiskey under regulations that will penalize the buyer who perjures himself either directly or by subterfuge to purchase more than the law allows as well as the maker and seller. It is going to be necessary to catch both the buyer and the seller. In our judgment real friends of temperance and of prohibition should be wise enough to forestall any amendment to the prohibition law by its enemies. The law should be amended by its friends, those who know something of the damnable pollution of society, morals and politics by the saloon.

SUN OF A BETTER DAY WINKING AT GRENADA.

Grenada is basking in the borderland of better things in business. The sun of a better day is winking at her out of the east. The twinkle of the stars is making merry at what the future is offering her. Radiant hope born of a golden experience bids her people to be wise, and attain that prosperity God gives those who try to do for themselves. The highest and most enduring prosperity is not in terms of dollars or material accumulations.

We have before us the first issue of the "Mid-South Merchant", a monthly publication which announces in its foreword that it shall be devoted to the interests of the southern business man and by business man it means all those engaged in legitimate business from farmer to manufacturer. The magazine is edited by L. D. Boone, formerly of Grenada and a brother of W. D. Boone, of this city. The publication contains a wealth of matter of interest to all citizens of this section, the various articles are well written and give evidence that they were prepared after much thought, the magazine is excellently illustrated and beautifully printed and the initial issue has set a pattern it would be well for future numbers to emulate. May the Mid-South Merchant fulfill the aims of the publishers and may it meet with the success it merits.

My son, keep thy father's commandments and forsake not the law of thy mother; bind them continually upon thine heart, and tie them about thy neck. When thou goest, it shall lead thee; and when thou walkest, it shall talk with thee. Proverbs 6:20-22.

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jinright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was.

"When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui." EX-1429

PETITION FOR PARDON

To His Excellency, Theo. G. Bilbo, Governor of Mississippi.

We the under signed citizens of Grenada County, Miss. do most respectfully petition and ask that your Excellency grant a pardon to Lewis Liles, who, on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 in Circuit Court of Grenada County, Miss., plead Guilty to the charge of Grand Larceny and was sentenced on the thirty-first day of Jan. 1929 to the term of 1 year in the State Penitentiary of said State for said crime.

We respectfully show to your Excellency that this is Liles' first offense, that he is a young man of twenty-four years, that he has a wife and one small child that are dependent on him for their livlihood, that the amount involved in the case was the small amount of thirty dollars, that he has been a respected citizen of Grenada County, Miss., since childhood. We further wish to show to your Excellency that prison life to a boy like this is not for the betterment for either society or the individual, that Liles feels deeply the disgrace that he has brought upon himself and his family and we believe that if he is given a pardon that he will in the future make a better citizen.

We are advised that he has made a model prisoner since his incarceration and respectfully submit and ask that your Excellency grant him a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. HARRIS and Others.

COLORED COLUMN

(Items by J. H. Phillips)

The Grenada normal opened Monday morning on schedule time. The registration of teachers from the various counties was a very satisfactory beginning, 75 in number. It promises to be larger. There are many more who will come in a little later who are detained by the fact that the lay-by season of the crops has not yet arrived. Many of the teachers have farm interests that must be looked after or they will lose their past labors. The faculty of the normal is complete. Prof. A. M. Rogers, education, Prof. N. A. Wilson, elementary science, Prof. Hopkins, English, Prof. T. A. Bolden, mathematics, Mrs. S. E. Walthall, primary and physical culture. Each of the above named teachers has specialized in the specified subjects that have been assigned them. Prof. Rogers in a way outlined what may be expected from time to time during the session. Devction each day at 10:30 to be conducted by one of the ministers of the city. Occasional addresses by some one fully able will have place on the program. An occasional sermon will be delivered on each Sunday at 3 p. m. followed by a vesper service. A special entertainment feature for the benefit of the public will be given each Friday night by the teachers of a specified county to be arranged later and notices sent out to that effect.

Through the ingenuity of Mrs. S. W. Rogers the young girls of our community have been organized into a club known as the "Community Needy Circle". The title of this organization speaks for itself. We apprehend that it covers a long felt want if it is to function along lines which was in evidence last Sunday at Vincent M. E. church when a program was "pulled off" at the Sunday School at 10 a. m. in which all of the Sunday Schools of the town had been invited to participate. Mrs. George Williams, of Belle Flower discussed cooperation and assimilation in Christian effort without regard to church affiliation. She brought along her two youngest daughters who favored us with a duet which was very creditable for tots so young. New Hope Sunday School was represented by Miss Lou Ellen Brown who spoke on the subject of how to create interest in the Sunday School and raise funds with which to run the Sunday School. Mrs. Rogers, who is leading in this movement, proposes to try to create in our young people a desire to aspire to higher and nobler aims in life with enthusiasm to carry on. The "Community Needy Circle" is now arranging a program for a like service at another church in the very near future.

Our itinerary in the interest of the Old Folks Home located in this city carried us to Hardiman's Chapel, 8 miles south of Grenada. It was the pastor's regular day there and we found him at his post. We listened to a splendid sermon from him and after all the church business had been attended to our long time friend and brother, S. C. Hardiman, introduced us. We presented the claim of the Old Folks Home and as we had anticipated it found a lodging place in the hearts of this splendid community. An organization was formed with Mrs. Mary Hardiman, president, Miss Nancy Roberts, secretary, and Mr. C. L. Beck, treasurer. We succeeded in raising $2.00 in cash as an initial contribution. Rev. Dotson, the pastor of the church, gave his indorsement and promised to cooperate in assisting the association.

William Weathers, son of M. W. Weathers, was down Sunday visiting his parents who live here. He carried back with him little Luke Weathers, Jr., his nephew who had been with his grandparents a few weeks. William was in the best of spirits but had to return early in order to be on his job Monday morning. He enjoyed his short stay.

The Rust Concert Co., of Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss., greeted this community with an entertainment on Monday evening. This is a fine company and we were fortunate to have them come to our town to give an entertainment. They were pleased at the response our people gave them. This company is traveling in the interest of the school, and are full worthy of all the consideration shown them.

Rev. G. M. Chisholm, pastor of Vincent M. E. Church, left Wednesday for a short vacation. He will mingle a little business with his pleasure before returning to his work. He will be absent 8 or 10 days. Provisions have been made for all of his regular services.

Mrs. S. E. Walthall, Mrs. J B. Wilson and Miss Clyde Golden returned last Saturday from Tuskeegee, Ala. where they attended the summer school. They are able to give a good account of themselves because it was all work and no play to achieve what they received in the way of improvement. They return to us more fully prepared to help humanity in life's work.

Mrs. Susan Taylor, of Jackson, Miss., stopped over in our city last Friday night and was the guest of Mrs. S. W. Rogers. Mrs. Taylor was en route to Wilmington, Del. to visit her son who lives there. Mrs. Taylor was reared in this city and her maiden name was Susan Fitzgerald. She has many relatives living here now and is remembered by the older citizens. She has been away from here several years.

keeping up with the Joneses

A larger income may make it possible for the Joneses to have a much finer home than the Browns—but the Browns can own just as fine a car. For it does not require a big income to own a De Soto Six. And with a De Soto Six the Browns have the pride and satisfaction of driving a Chrysler-built automobile—with the ability to out-perform most other cars on the road.

De Soto Six is obviously smart and stylish; up-to-the-minute in mode. And it has not taken the motoring public long to find that De Soto Six is also exceptionally comfortable and easy riding, powerful, speedy and safe. Record-breaking sales figures for a first-year car are proof enough of its established and growing popularity.

Combine these qualities with low price, low maintenance cost and assured long life. The reason is plain why those who insist on smartness and performance, but must consider economy, are finding De Soto Six the most satisfactory car.

You Have a Gold Mine---

A hard working farmer was doing his utmost to make a living from a small tract of unproductive land. But it didn't pay. He made no progress.

Finally a stranger came along, liked the location of the land, and offered the farmer a few hundred dollars for it—which of course, the amazed nd delighted owner immediately accepted.

A short time later, gold was discovered on the property. A large mining company made the second owner an offer many, many times greater than what he had paid for it, and he, too, accepted. The new company found an almost unlimited supply of the precious metal.

Today that land pays enormous dividends to its owners. The farmer had been asleep. The other man didn't dig deep enough.

Any legitimate business merchandising a worthy product is a sort of gold mine—if you dig deep enough to find the pay ore.

Make good printing your pick and shovel—they'll do for your more complicated instruments, too, when you start digging.

They're excellent for loosening up the public mind and the public pocket book, and getting the utmost results from every selling possibility.

And there's no print better than ours.

DO YOU LIKE SPIDERS?

In his early days, you remember, Mark Twain was editor of a Missouri newspaper. A superstitious subscriber wrote him saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and asking whether it was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist replied:

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin a web across tne door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."
